WSSU Alumna Sponsoring Inaugural Black Mental Health Summit in Winston-Salem

A Winston-Salem State University alumna is the mastermind behind a new program in Forsyth County that seeks to break the stigma of mental health services in the Black community.

Alexia Mitchell, a licensed clinical therapist-associate and owner and founder of Reset and Heal, a mental health consulting company, is hosting the inaugural Black Mental Health Summit (BMHS) on May 17 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Enterprise Center at 1922 S. Martin Luther King Jr. Drive. The event will feature a keynote address, mental health experts and two panel discussions. Among the panelists are two WSSU employees, Dr. Keisha Grayson Rogers and Tim Pittman.

Mitchell said this is the first event of its kind in Forsyth County.

"My purpose for creating the BMHS was because I recognized the urgent need to address mental health issues within the Black community – a demographic often disproportionately affected by mental health challenges yet facing significant barriers to accessing care," Mitchell said.

"My education at WSSU prepared me for my career by providing me a strong sense of community and belonging," Mitchell said. "WSSU provided me with a sense of resilience and determination, allowing me to carry those values into my career and later into entrepreneurship."

One of her greatest honors was being inducted into the WSSU 40 under 40 class in 2023. "Words cannot express how much that recognition meant to me. To be recognized by my alumni and peers meant that I have carried the university's mission of 'Enter to Learn and Depart to Serve' very well," she said.

“Entering the Winston-Salem State University (WSSU) National Alumni Association’s Miss & Mr. Alumni Contest holds profound significance for me, as it aligns with my passion for education and community impact. As a proud alumna with an undergraduate degree in Political Science and Public Administration, I see this contest as a unique opportunity to contribute to the scholarship efforts of the WSSU National Alumni Association. As a contestant, I aspire to leverage this platform to raise awareness and vital funds, ensuring that deserving students have the financial support necessary to pursue their educational dreams at WSSU.

Having experienced the challenges of being a non-traditional adult student, relying on scholarships and grants for my academic pursuits, I understand the pivotal role these opportunities play. Interdependence that defines our existence, my vision is to empower WSSU students to achieve academic excellence. Central to this vision is the focus on building scholarships for WSSU. My efforts will not only support promising youth but also usher them into our great university, enabling them to embrace the motto, “Enter to Learn and Depart to Serve.” Together, we can forge a path for the next generation, ensuring that they too contribute to the collective journey of knowledge and service.

Deidra Artis Phyll, 2005 Graduate, Bachelor of Science, Management Information Systems

I'm excited to participate in the Miss WSSU Alumni Contest because I deeply value the role of education in transforming lives and communities. My primary aim as a candidate is to act as a passionate representative for WSSU, leveraging this opportunity to generate funds and highlight the critical role scholarships play. Through my involvement in this contest, I'm committed to enhancing fundraising initiatives to support future WSSU students in obtaining a quality education. I aim to inspire others to recognize the value of giving back to our alma mater and to foster a tradition of philanthropy among alumni across generations.

Alumni should support my candidacy for Miss Alumni because my journey embodies the essence of our alma mater's motto, "Enter to Learn, Depart to Serve." My roots in a small town in NC and my educational path through predominantly white institutions only amplified my appreciation for the unique, empowering environment that WSSU provided. From my first steps on campus in the summer of 2001, participating in Accelerated Summer Program (ASP), to the proud day I received my degree in 2005, the experience was life changing. During my WSSU journey, I gained a deep sense of belonging, connection, and community. These experiences not only shaped my personal and academic growth but also sparked a passion for making a difference and giving back, especially in the form of scholarships. I stand firm in the belief that education holds power, not just in the knowledge it imparts but in the opportunities it unlocks. Scholarships are not merely financial aids; they are gate ways that open countless doors for students. By supporting my efforts, alumni are not just contributing to my campaign; you are investing in the future of our university and its students.

As a WSSU Alumni ambassador, my focus is on uniting past, present, and future Rams to make a real difference through student scholarships. My first step involves raising awareness and highlighting the importance of scholarships and their impact on students' futures. Following this effort, I would love to cultivate a culture of giving and encouraging alumni across generations to see the value in giving back, not for recognition but for impact and to genuinely support and nurture our future WSSU leaders. My role as an ambassador is about more than fundraising; it's about creating a community that supports and uplifts every student at WSSU.
